Attendance/Quorum

The minutes for the November 2, 2021 Faculty Senate meeting were approved with no changes.

Reports of the Officers

Report of the President – Terri Torres

- Terri began her report by thanking our IT workers for helping get the room ready for this meeting.
- She also thanked Erin Foley for working with faculty to get the water fountains turned back on.
- Terri gave a presentation to the Board on November 18th, presenting in particular concerns raised by our Faculty Senators.
  - She told the Board that we hope to work this year on an Academic Master Plan, a General Education review, improvements to retention and enrollment, and an increased dedication to inclusion and diversity.
- She also said that SenEx has planned a special session of Faculty Senate on January 18th. During this session we will be discussing the reorganization of Faculty Senate post-CBA.
- Terri has met with the Provost.
  - She learned that the NTT promotion policy is currently under legal review by Dave Groff. There should be feedback coming within the next few weeks.
  - They discussed DICE, and a faculty-centric subcommittee that will fit into the new Senate organization.
  - They also discussed a syllabus-generating program that has been presented to department chairs. Terri requested that all faculty get a chance to give feedback on this program before it is adopted.
  - The new lecture-capture program, Yuja, was discussed. Terri was assured that Canvas Studio will retain its functionality. The Yuja license has been purchased for one year.
  - Terri recommended Randall Paul as a Senate representative on the Academic Master Plan steering committee.
- Terri also met with Dr. Naganathan, and they discussed the campus climate survey. Andria Fultz agreed to serve as a Senate representative on the committee that is organizing that survey.
  - Terri and Dr. Naganathan also discussed restarting Town Halls. She says that there is a plan to get those started again.
  - We need to revisit the Strategic Plan pillars in the new year; there will be more action on this in 2022.
- Terri said that Laurie Yates has agreed to chair Academic Standards, while Yuehai Yang has agreed to chair RPT.
- Terri said that state-level committees are constantly looking for faculty representation. She can't be specific about which committees are looking for members right now, but let her know if you're interested in serving Oregon Tech in this capacity.
- Next, Terri listed the current charges for Academic Standards and RPT.
  - These charges are listed verbatim on page 14.
- End of report.

Report of the Vice President – Lindy Stewart

- Lindy attended the Academic Council meeting on November 9th.
  - There was a presentation on Simple Syllabus (the program Terri mentioned previously).
    - The program is ADA-compliant.
    - In short, the program allows for consistent syllabus design and presentation across the university.
    - It works well alongside Canvas.
    - Lindy says that, in her opinion, this program would be a step forward in how we design and distribute our syllabi at Oregon Tech.
  - Ken Davis presented on the idea of writing “Wow Letters” for students who are high-achieving in your classes. This would be a way of recognizing these students beyond simply giving them a high grade.
  - Paul Titus gave a presentation on adjunct contracts. They are trying to streamline the process of bringing adjuncts on board and also trying to do a better job of tracking who is hired, and who is teaching what. This is a work in progress at the moment.
  - As of November 9th, program assessments are 50% complete.
  - Student workers are available through peer consulting to help your students by providing various tutoring services.
- Questions?
  - There were no questions.
- End of report.

Report of the ASOIT Delegates – Jack Zoucha

- Jack gave a brief presentation on the in-process Student Bill of Rights that ASOIT is working on.
  - The slides from this presentation are included in the packet on pages 15-20.
- Questions?
  - Sean Sloan asked if students wanted a day in every financial decision the university makes.
    - Jack clarified that this was not the case; however, he reiterated that large-scale financial decisions that impact students should be made with student input.
  - Dibyajyoti Deb asked if ASOIT has ever had a Bill of Rights before.
    - Jack replied that there’s a very vague version of such a document in the Student Code of Conduct, but this new version would be much more comprehensive and specific.
  - Deb also asked if other universities in Oregon have a document like this one, and Jack answered that Oregon Tech is the only Oregon university that doesn’t already have such a document.
- If others have input for Jack and/or ASOIT at large regarding this document, they should send feedback to Jack or Brie Landis, the ASOIT representatives to Senate.
- End of report.

New Business

Terri Torres

- Terri asked CJ Riley to speak briefly about Grad Council's proposed revision to the Continuous Enrollment Policy.
  - Grad Council has been considering this revision for awhile, with the idea being to make the enrollment policy more inclusive for all students in all situations.
    - Randall Paul asked to clarify that this policy revision would make it so that graduate students who aren't actively on campus and using campus resources while enrolled (say, for example, they are enrolled but doing research abroad) they would be spared the enrollment fees during that time.
      - CJ agreed that this is the case.
    - Deb helped explain that different graduate programs handle things very differently at Oregon Tech, so these policy revisions were meant to make sure that all of those different programs are treated equitably.

CJ Riley

- CJ spoke to explain the one-sheet he provided for Senate's consideration in the December packet.
  - You can find this document on page 21 of this packet as well.
  - He said that we are in the midst of a process of reimagining what Faculty Senate will be in the wake of the ratification of the CBA: now that OT-AAUP is in charge of faculty welfare issues around labor, how will Senate become a more academically-oriented body in response to that change?
    - Part of the value of this exercise, CJ says, is that it will help us (faculty) better express our authority and responsibilities within the larger university community.
      - We want to be a meaningful partner in the shared governance of the university, and a well-thought-out reorganization will assist in this.
- CJ motioned that Senate charge SenEx with reviewing the constitution and charter of the Faculty Senate to make sure that 1) those documents are in line with the current mission and goals of the Senate and 2) to make sure that the charter and constitution are not in conflict with the Board's policies and resolutions, or with OT-AAUP's governing documents.
  - The motion was seconded.
  - I suggested an amendment to the motion: that SenEx should evaluate the Senate bylaws in addition to the constitution and the charter.

- Sean asked if the President, Provost, and Deans should be included in this conversation.
  - Terri responded that SenEx is already working in consultation with the Provost, and that she also meets monthly with Dr. Naganathan as well.
    - Sean then asked if we could amend the motion to make it so SenEx resolves to work directly with the administration, but CJ pointed out that Senate is unable to charge administrative figures with work. Sean then suggested that we make sure to invite them to be part of the process even if they can't be formally charged with joining in.
- The motion was approved.

Open Floor

Yuehai Yang

- Yuehai spoke to raise awareness that the CBA language on sabbaticals is unclear. In particular, he pointed out that it's unclear in the language whether you must be at Oregon Tech for 18 terms before you can apply for sabbatical, or if you must be here for 18 terms before you can leave on sabbatical.
  - Sean asked about the feedback Yuehai has gotten on this question. Yuehai responded that some administrators told him that he could only apply after 18 terms, but that some faculty, including ones that worked on the wording of the CBA article, said that it was intended to say that you can leave after 18 terms.
    - Lindy spoke in favor of the former interpretation.
  - Terri thanked Yuehai for bringing this concern up, but said that she would talk to Beverly McCreary and the Provost and see what the "official" interpretation is.

Ben Bunting

- I spoke on behalf of Cristina Negoita, who emailed me a concern prior to the meeting. The text of the email is excerpted below, and was read out loud at the meeting:
  - "I would like to ask about the Dean evaluation policy - in particular, when was the last such evaluation conducted, and when will the next one evaluation happen, and how can we ensure that all faculty have a voice in the process?"
    - The current policy on Dean Evaluation (OIT-23-031) states that the evaluation survey used will be approved by the Provost and the Faculty Senate before being administered.
  - Dr. Mott spoke to say that last year the ETM Dean was evaluated using this process and following the existing policy. This year the HAS Dean will be evaluated, and the process will begin in the winter term.

Bobbi Kowash

- Bobbi asked about the NTT policy, and whether it is currently being considered under the 30-day public viewing window or being looked at by Dave Groff.
  - Dr. Mott answered that, essentially, both are true: Dave is evaluating the policy and that is the 30-day viewing period that was mentioned elsewhere.
- Bobbi also asked if it was possible to get more information on the progress of the campus climate survey. In particular, she wanted to know if work on the survey was going to happen while people (faculty in particular) were on break.
  - Dr. Mott said that she is not involved directly in that process and that questions should be directed to John Harman.

- John spoke (technically after Deb's Open Floor item, but I'm putting it here for clarity) to let the Senate know that the university has finalized a contract with Modern Think, and an advisory team is getting put together to guide the process. He said that they are likely to begin their work right before the holiday break, but the more detailed work will begin in early January.

Dibyajyoti Deb

- Deb spoke to follow up on the concern about the Testing Center he previously described during Senate's November meeting. He said that he was told by Erin Foley that Portland-Metro faculty could be asked to proctor exams for individual students in the future as a solution. He requested to Erin that in the future, Portland-Metro campus students be included in the Testing Center purview – along with students who have sports-related absences and ACES students. He provided this update and there were no questions.

Randall Paul

- Randall asked if it's been decided (or when it will be decided) whether committees like GEAC will be included under Faculty Senate's purview in the future.
  - Terri answered that that will be discussed in detail during our January special session of Senate.

Report of the Provost – Dr. Joanna Mott

- Dr. Mott began by thanking everyone for helping to keep campus safe and helping to avoid a large campus outbreak of COVID this term.
- Registration is currently ongoing for winter. Fall saw significant decreases: 9.8% in headcount, 8.1% in student credit hours.
  - As a result, the winter term numbers will also be lower than last year.
  - This will effect our budget negatively.
  - Dr. Mott encouraged advisors to make sure that all their students are getting registered.
  - The Deans and chairs are discussing strategies alongside Admissions and Advising and Retention, looking to improve recruiting and, in particular, engage with students over the summer between the times they put in their deposit and classes start for the fall.
- So far, twenty faculty position requests have been granted for next year, with potentially a few more on the way.
- Voting was just completed for representatives on the Academic Master Plan steering committee. There will be two faculty representatives.
  - As mentioned previously, Terri has nominated Randall Paul on behalf of the Senate.
- Questions?
  - There were no questions.
- End of report.

Report of the President's Council Delegate – Terri Torres

- No report.

Report of the Inter-institutional Faculty Senate (IFS) Representative – Maureen Sevigny and Lindy Stewart

- Maureen said that IFS met November 19th. At that meeting, Lindy Stewart was selected as IFS President. This is Oregon Tech's first IFS President since 2002, according to Maureen.
- HECC is meeting tomorrow and the next day, and these are public meetings.

- Tomorrow's meeting is on the Funding and Achievement Subcommittee. Maureen asked if someone could join that meeting, because Maureen will have to miss her portion of the meeting because of other commitments. She does intend to attend the Thursday meeting and report back.
- Maureen mentioned the differences between Oregon universities' PTR policies. This is one item that has been part of the HECC discussions.
- The common course numbering effort has started to focus in on specific courses. Maureen says that many of these specific courses are likely to need to be changed from three credits to four.
  - The weight of these changes may fall on the humanities and social sciences.
  - Nine courses will be put under review in 2023-2024. One course cluster is writing courses, another is math courses, and another is a set of communication courses.
  - The specific courses currently under consideration are included on a document found on page 22.
  - Maureen recommends that we maintain state-level representation as this situation develops so that we can have a say how things turn out. She also says that humanities and social sciences should start preparing to make the switch to four credits.
  - She also shared a link that shows in more detail the courses that are currently being considered:
    - <https://docs.google.com/spreadsheets/d/1VHROo8ykRIjbsSRTSPVSHEQ4AgwmSFwbBs9dkaad5GM/edit?usp=sharing>
  - Vanessa asked how this common course numbering initiative would square with the Provost's proposed goal of getting all Oregon Tech programs down to 180 total credits.
    - Randall answered that the common course numbering initiative is intended to be credit-neutral (i.e., instead of taking four 3-credit courses, students might take three 4-credit courses that cover the same material).
  - Terri asked about opportunities to represent Oregon Tech at the state level.
    - Maureen was a bit confused and said that she hadn't actually mentioned these opportunities (Secretary note: according to my notes, it was actually Terri who mentioned this earlier in the meeting, during the President's report).
- End of report.

Report of the Fiscal Operations Advisory Council (FOAC) Representative – Lindy Stewart

- Lindy said that FOAC met on November 10th.
  - FOAC reviewed the FY 2021 Management Report.
    - This report is included in our packet on pages 23-49.
  - Lindy also reported that currently, construction costs in general are 30% higher than normal.
    - This will impact our budget and our capital projects.
  - There is a proposal being written to build new student housing (on the Klamath Falls campus).
  - Provost Mott did receive $5.5M from HECC for the Center For Excellence For Applied Computing and rural health initiatives.
  - The Management Report also addresses in detail how the COVID funds were spent by the university.
    - Lindy said that a lot of it went to technology and upgrades.
  - The CEET will be open for the university on December 17th.
  - Lindy said she has seen the design for the Boivin update. There are cosmetic changes to the outside, but the inside of the building will be completely different. She said that it will be "beautiful."
  - Two roundabouts are set to be built near campus; Oregon Tech is paying for one of them, and the city is paying for the other one.
  - The track and stadium renovation is 100% complete.
  - Architectural firms are being interviewed to design the new student residence building.

- Questions?
  - Vanessa asked where the roundabouts are projected to be installed.
    - Lindy said that one will be at the intersection of Campus Way and Dan O' Brien (Oregon Tech-funded), while the other will be near the hospital, on Daggett (city-funded).
  - Deb spoke to add to the FOAC report:
    - COVID funds have to spent by May 2022; it's possible to extend them for one more year, but that's not guaranteed.
    - At the moment, we have a $17M funding balance, but the funding will decrease over the next two years ($1.1M next year and $2.6M the year after).
      - Vanessa asked what happens if we don't spend the COVID money. Deb said it would just go back and remain unused.
      - Terri asked how much of the COVID funds haven't been spent.
        - John explained that we had received around $7M originally, and there is likely around $4M left to spend. He is not concerned about the money going to waste before the deadline.

Report of the Administrative Council Delegate – Iona Musgnung

- Iona briefly introduced herself to start.
- Becky Burkeen has stepped into the Admin Council chair role as of this month.
  - Iona said that there's a diversity of members on Admin Council this year. Member list can be found here:
    - <https://www.oit.edu/faculty-staff/committees/administrative-council/members>
- Admin Council met in September and decided on three main areas of focus for the year:
  - Trying to empower administrative staff
  - Influencing a positive culture and rebuilding trust at the institution
  - Focus on increasing retention of staff
    - Admin Council will be running a quarterly newsletter going forward, meeting regularly with Dr. Naganathan, and continuing the annual “pulse check” survey that was first run last year in pursuit of these goals.
    - They also want to look at compensation of administrative staff: the last compensation plan update was in 2014 and that plan was wiped in 2019 so there is currently no plan or standard. Iona said that John has been helpful in working on a replacement plan.
    - They also want to improve and standardize the onboarding process for new staff, but are limited in what they can accomplish right now with staff shortages in HR.
    - Finally, they want to pay more attention to professional development of staff.
    - Iona says to expect more information in the near future.
- Questions?
  - No questions.
- End of report.

Adjournment

Terri adjourned the meeting at 7:34pm.

Ben Bunting, Secretary

Minutes

The Faculty Senate met for a special session on January 18th, 2022, in the Mount Bailey Meeting Room of the College Union (Klamath Falls campus) and via Zoom for Portland-Metro faculty and others attending remotely.

Attendance/Quorum

President Terri Torres called the meeting to order at 6:12pm. All Senators or alternates were present except for Christopher Syrnyk.

New Business

Terri Torres

- Terri began by referencing the chart portraying a proposed reorganization of Faculty Senate that had been provided to Senators prior to this meeting.
  - The chart is also available on page [x] of this packet.
  - Terri also explained that this draft of the reorganized structure has been developed by SenEx working with the Provost. She proceeded to describe the structure in some detail for context before further discussion.
- Questions/Comments
  - Randall Paul asked if committee processes (like, for example, CPC's approval processes) will change because of this reorganization.
    - Terri answered that individual committees' processes won't change as a result of the reorganization, but that it would allow various committees to collect information on other committees' work via our monthly Senate meetings. Essentially, the intention of the reorganization is to put these committees into more and better communication with one another, with Senate as the intermediary.
    - Lindy Stewart spoke to reinforce the idea that the reorganization is intended to increase communication across committees but not change individual committees' processes.
  - Randall then asked how committees will be peopled going forward.
    - CJ explained that this question hasn't been addressed yet, but will be part of the Open Floor discussion, so it was put off until that portion of the meeting.
  - Next, Chitra Venugopal asked if she will be expected to give regular reports to Senate as a member of the International Committee under this new organization.
    - Terri responded that no, she does not.
  - Chitra also asked if she needed to give a report as a member of the International Committee at this particular meeting of Senate.
    - CJ responded that no, she does not.
  - Kyle asked why Grad Council and OLAC got moved to the lowest (third) tier of the structure.
    - Terri responded that the Provost and our leadership believed that those committees belonged at the lowest tier. She stated that we can always alter this structure after the fact if something isn't working out.
    - Terri asked if Dan Peterson had been part of the conversation where these changes were introduced to see if he could provide more context.
      - Dan said that he was not part of that particular conversation.
    - Kyle recommended that those two committees be moved back to the second tier, with the thought being that they are "academic" committees in a similar way to many of the other second-tier committees.
  - Randall asked what the point of the reorganization of Senate is.

- Terri answered that much of the work that has historically been under Senate’s purview has been absorbed by the union (or rendered obsolete by the CBA). So part of the reason for it is to revisit what Senate’s purpose should be in the wake of those changes. Also, the hope is that the reorganization will improve communication across committees and faculty groups to make us more collaborative and to cut down on duplication of effort. The hub for that communication would be our regular Senate meetings.
  - Lindy added that the effort is about “cross-pollination.” Also, this would allow faculty to know what’s going on in committees that they aren’t directly part of. Senate already somewhat accomplishes this, but it could function better.
- Andria Fultz asked how Senate will operate going forward: when will all the committees report to us?
  - Terri answered that SenEx will generate a calendar to determine when each of the “once-a-term” and “once-a-year” committees will report to Senate.
- Dibyajyoti Deb asked if this draft structure was final.
  - Terri responded that this is just a draft that we are hoping to have Senate support with a vote during the February meeting. Right now we are trying to get feedback so to make that vote easier.
- Deb also suggested that the Admissions Committee and OLAC should be in the second tier, so that the Senate hears from them more often.
  - Terri responded that we can move those committees to the second tier, but they also don’t need to be there for Senate to hear from them: we can request to hear from any of these groups at any time.
  - Terri also clarified that the main difference between the tiers is who has the power to assign charges. We could, for example, ask OLAC to report to Senate whenever we want under the draft structure. But we cannot give them charges.
- Dan spoke up to clarify that the reason the mentioned committees (OLAC, Admissions, and Grad Council) were moved to the third tier is because they all have “non-academic components” to the committees and so they are not fully academic.
  - Lindy replied that the work that those committees do effects our work as instructors, and therefore faculty should have more input into the workings of the committees in the future than they currently do.
- Cristina Negoita asked when this structure will be implemented.
  - I responded that the hope is to vote on this structure during the February Senate meeting and then immediately start distributing charges and such after that.
- Cristina also suggested that the structure be reviewed at the end of the year and see if it’s a good structure or if changes need to be made.
  - I answered that the intention is that we have policy going forward that states that this structure will be reviewed every year and altered as necessary. CJ will talk more about his during the Open Floor section.
  - CJ explained that the draft structure initially came about from SenEx collecting all the committees at the university that seemed to have academic dimensions to them, and then dividing them up across the three tiers based on how much input we thought Senate should have on each of their work. Feedback so far has seemingly indicated that Senate believes we should have more input into some of these committees than the draft structure allows, and that’s useful to know.
- Deb suggested that the Admissions Committee in particular to report to Senate every term.
  - CJ pointed out that the draft structure was designed with charging responsibility and meeting frequency defining the tiers together; he suggested that a new draft might separate these two

- (so, for example, there might be a tier that requests once-a-term reports from a committee but does not establish any charging authority from Senate).
- Kyle restated the point that if this restructuring is meant to give more authority over academic matters to Senate, that he thinks this current draft structure doesn't do enough to establish that authority. In particular, he doesn't think that GEAC and the ESLO committees should be relegated to the second tier of the structure.
    - Randall spoke to agree with Kyle on the point about the placement of GEAC and the ESLO committees.
      - Terri pointed out that regardless of where those committees are located in the structure, they are made up of faculty members.
      - She also stated that these committees in particular have traditionally been Academic Affairs committees, into which Senate has historically had no input.
      - I stated that some previous SenEx conversation during the drafting of this structure was around a concern about putting too many committees in the first tier and that being seen as Senate trying to “take over” historically independent committees. Randall's feedback helped clarify that even GEAC members would like to see it moved higher up in the draft structure.
        - Randall spoke again to make clear that having Senate be the motivating force behind GEAC in the future would be really helpful. He asked if there had been administrative pushback against having GEAC and the ESLO committees in the first tier, but we took a break for pizza before answering.
  - Maureen asked why the wording on the draft structure document was “input from.” She pointed out that historically, this sort of weak wording has resulted in faculty input being disregarded. She also asked if there were going to be timelines that determined how long “getting input from” will take so that decisions aren't unnecessarily put off.
    - Bobbi asked if it had been considered to change this wording to “Charges from Provost and SenEx” or “Charges from Provost or SenEx” to make sure that everyone is included in the decision-making process.
      - Terri deferred both of these last two questions while the Senators on the Klamath Falls campus took a pizza break.
        - After the break, Dr. Mott spoke to Maureen's concern about timeline by stating that “the details will follow” when it comes to how the two sides exchange input when developing charges.
        - Terri spoke to say that the process is iterative, and things that don't work the first time around can and will be revised going forward.
  - Kyle reiterated his concern about the placement of OLAC and Grad Council in the draft structure.
    - Dr. Mott stated that even if these committees stay in the third tier, they can still be asked to present at Senate at any time. She repeated Terri's earlier assertion that the structure can always be changed later on.
      - Kyle agreed, but also made the point that the initial version of the structure matters, and it's more difficult to make changes once a structure is in place.
  - Kyle also said that he thought that GEAC and the ESLO committees should be moved to being Senate committees.
    - Dr. Mott reiterated that Senate can always ask any committee to come and give a presentation, and that if there are issues with communication across committees, part of that may be due to Senate not being engaged enough with what goes on outside of their immediate purview.

- Kyle clarified that what he is looking for is less to have Senate simply “be informed” and more that he’d like to see Senate be more a part of the university organization and leadership.
- Cristina spoke to make the point that it’s important for Senate’s input – now and in the future – to be meaningful and to be taken seriously. Historically, Senate’s input has frequently been ignored, and that contributes to Senate as a body being less effective and influential than it could be.
  - Bobbi asked if her idea of having another tier with a “SenEx or Provost” charging authority would help with this.
    - Cristina responded that the details of how this structure will work in practice are important to get right for these reasons.
- Sean clarified that this reorganization doesn’t change any signing authorities or anything similar, it just opens up possibilities for more cross-communication.
  - Terri reiterated that this reorganization is a first step toward getting Senate more involved in the academic side of the university. We don’t have the authority to change signatories on policy documents, etc., and aren’t necessarily seeking to gain that authority in the future.
- Deb asked why FOAC was not included in the draft structure.
  - Terri answered that it’s because it is a President’s committee, so it has no direct relation to Faculty Senate.
- Kyle asked if all of the committees in the first and second tiers will have a Senate representative assigned to them, or if there will just be someone from the committee who reports to Senate when necessary.
  - Terri answered that it will be the former option, not the latter.

Open Floor

CJ Riley and Ben Bunting

- CJ spoke to introduce the idea that we need a policy that exists in parallel with the draft structure document that describes how the structure will work: how are these committees created and disbanded? How are the committees peopled, and when?
  - Cecily Heiner asked if we have authority to make such a document.
    - CJ said that we have authority to propose a policy. Terri outlined the policy approval process briefly. Ultimately, President’s Council has the final say, but we can propose this policy and then see what happens from there.
      - I spoke to clarify, too, that the intention for this policy would not be to grab new authority or new powers for Senate, but only to explain how the powers granted to Senate by the draft structure document would work in practice. In theory, if the university administration is alright with the draft structure document, there should be nothing in the policy document that would raise alarms.
        - Terri took a moment to update Senators on the status of the NTT policy: it’s been sent back to SenEx from Dave Groff with comments that need to be addressed. SenEx has charged RPT with making certain these comments are addressed with revisions.
  - Cristina asked if the goal of this discussion was to charge SenEx with creating a policy that encapsulates what CJ talked about at the beginning of Open Floor. Terri said yes: SenEx will create a draft policy, bring it to Senate, and get feedback. Eventually, we will vote on a final version of the policy to pass on to the administration.
    - Cristina made the motion and the motion passed.
      - Terri said that the policy will include a timeline.

- Vanessa asked if in situations where there is already a Senator on a given committee, would that person just serve as the Senate representative by default. Terri agreed.
  - Sean pointed out that the chair of the committee might be the best person to present to Senate. Cristina said that the Senate representative would have an equally informed voice, so either option would work well.

Adjournment

Terri adjourned the meeting at 7:43pm.

Faculty Senate: The Voice of the Faculty

The Board delegates to the president and faculty, authority relating to the powers outlined in the Faculty Constitution and Charter of the Faculty Senate and: (a) academic standards relating to admission to study at the University; (b) curriculum, curricular materials, method of instruction, grading, credits, and academic standards of the University; and (c) standards of student competence in a discipline.

- Board Policy on Delegation of Authority (1.7.2)

The Board reaffirms the faculty's central role in the development and stewardship of the University's academic mission, consistent with Oregon law and the Board Policy on Delegation of Authority, and as outlined in the Faculty Constitution and Charter of the Faculty Senate. The faculty, in conjunction with the President and Provost, is responsible for (i) academic standards relating to admission to study at the University; (ii) curriculum, curricular materials, method of instruction, grading, credits, and academic standards of the University; and (iii) standards of student competence in a discipline. The Board also expects that the faculty will have substantial participation and input into the development of new academic degree programs and significant changes to academic degree programs before they reach the Board for consideration and approval and, as appropriate, transmission to the Higher Education Coordinating Commission for approval.

The Board recognizes the Faculty Senate as the internal representative body of the faculty. To set forth its internal processes for participating in shared governance, the Oregon Tech Faculty Senate is authorized, consistent with law and the Policies and actions of the Board, to formulate a statement of internal governance expressed as a constitution or in another appropriate format. The statement of internal governance must be consistent with applicable law and the Policies and actions of the Board and is subject to approval by the President in his or her role as president of the faculty. The President convenes and presides over the faculty and is authorized to veto any decision of the Faculty Senate. Notwithstanding the President's statutory role as the president of the faculty, the faculty's statement of internal governance may provide for a member of the faculty to serve as the Faculty Senate's president or chair. The statement of internal governance is subject to amendment by the Board after notice to and consultation with the President and Faculty Senate. Subject to the approval of the President, the statement of internal governance may also be amended as provided for in the statement of internal governance statement, but no more often than annually.

- Board Resolution 15-2 on Shared Governance, Section 3c

The Faculty of Oregon Institute of Technology maintains the institutional philosophy of shared governance characterized by open and responsible communication, fair treatment of individuals, participatory processes, and collaborative decision-making, whereby each member of the Faculty has the responsibility to speak and the right to be heard without prejudice. Such a governance philosophy, with the active support of the Faculty, provides a climate in which ideas can be initiated, policies and practices can be tested, and a unity of purpose can be forged so that all members of the university community are encouraged and supported in their endeavor to contribute to the mission of Oregon Institute of Technology.

- Constitution of the Faculty

The Faculty exercises its power to initiate action to promote faculty welfare, including but not limited to recommending policy and providing advice, through its representative body, the Faculty Senate. It has the responsibility, on behalf of the Faculty, of considering proposed changes in the policies of the institute and may suggest such changes on its own initiative. It has the sole responsibility, on behalf of the Faculty, of recommending policy changes to the president of the institute for consideration. "Policy," under this Charter, means a general rule for the conduct of the institute that affects:

- (a) The purposes or goals of the institute;
- (b) The nature and scope of its program; or
- (c) Its standards of teaching, research, and scholarship.

It has the responsibility of considering all proposed policy changes which affect the general welfare of the Faculty. The Senate, furthermore, may consider and recommend specific means of insuring the continuance of academic freedom at this institute.

- Faculty Senate Charter, Preamble

CHARACTERISTICS OF FACULTY SENATES BY MODEL

Senate Characteristics	Perception of Campus Constituents	Areas of Decision Making	Relationship with Administration
Functional	An association that represents the faculty. Exists to protect and preserve faculty rights.	Curriculum, tenure, promotion, and issues relevant to faculty work conditions.	Cooperative
Influential	A governing body that can initiate change on campus. Viewed as a partner in campus governance.	Curriculum, tenure, promotion, faculty issues, institutional improvement, strategic and budget priorities.	Collaborative/collegial
Ceremonial	Not an important part of campus governance. Faculty are disengaged and senate activity is viewed as a pastime.	The academic calendar, election of new officers, and other routine/mundane decisions reserved for the senate.	Cooperative/passive

Institutional decisions reserved specifically for the senate; uninvolved in other areas of decision making where it has no formal authority.	Skeptical/confrontational

Objectives for Updating:

- More clearly define administrative council and asoit
- Clearly define accountability
- Outline/define clear hierarchy of roles (“chain of command”)
  - Are there policies/procedures in place that outline appropriate reporting, communication, resolution of conflict, voting and veto powers, etc? Cite them in this document
- Define/declare enforcement of chain of command
- Define/declare voting rights/veto powers. There appears to be no balance of power between governing bodies
- Break Section 3b into 2 or 3: president should have its own subsection, then officers and senior administrators (do they each need their own section?)
