Dear Parents and Families,

Greetings from Oregon Tech! Welcome to the first issue of the Empty Nest newsletter for the 2011-12 academic year. Our newsletter provides information about life at Oregon Tech inside and outside of the classroom and news about programs, events, services, and departments that can positively affect your student's success. Read about what students have been doing so far this term and discover ways to help your student succeed.

As we approach November, we are passing the period of the academic term known as mid-term. By now, most classes have had at least one exam or paper due and the anxiety levels have increased as new students learn what it takes to be successful in college. As parents, you have a key role in supporting your student's academic success. One of the most important things you can do is to keep the lines of communication open with your student. When you get the response of "fine" in answer to your question, dig a little deeper, ask specific questions, and encourage your son or daughter to seek assistance from campus resources (especially tutoring) sooner rather than later. If students and their parents/family members partner with faculty members and support staff, we can create a partnership for success.

As the Vice President for Student Affairs and Dean of Students, I oversee a wide range of programs and services that affect your student's achievements. Our mission in Student Affairs is to enhance the learning environment for students by stimulating the learning process; by integrating in-class and out-of-class experiences; by promoting an environment conducive to growth and discovery; and by facilitating intellectual, social, occupational, physical, cultural and emotional development.

My office is always open to you and to your student to discuss opportunities, ideas, concerns, or just to chat. My assistant, Nellie Stewart, will be your first point of contact. Nellie brings a wealth of experience to our office as both a graduate of Oregon Tech and a native of Southern Oregon. Nellie can assist you with delivering emergency messages to your student, fax and notarize documents for free, and make appointments for you and/or your students to talk with me or other members of the Oregon Tech community. Nellie and I aim to provide a friendly, safe, supportive atmosphere to students and their families.

As always, if you have any questions, please feel free to contact my office at 541.885.1013 or e-mail us at Nellie.stewart@oit.edu or Erin.foley@oit.edu.

Our campus is a dynamic place where students, faculty and staff pursue education with vigor and passion. We look forward sharing a great year with you. Make sure to mark your calendar for Family Weekend coming in February 10-11, 2012 this year. More information will be available as we get closer to that weekend.

Sincerely,

Erin Foley, Ph.D.

What's Happening in the Halls?

By Mandi Clark, Director of Housing & Residence Life

The Residence Halls are buzzing with ideas, plans, and some curious notions to see who can scare the most kids! On Saturday, October 29, the Residence Hall will open its doors to the local community for the 19th annual Haunted House. Every student living on campus is invited to participate in this event. Admission is free, but canned food or monetary donations are requested with all proceeds going to benefit the Klamath/Lake Counties Food Bank. Last year, we had 2075 people come through the Haunted House and Trick-or-Treat Hall, and our combined donation of canned food and cash equaled 5900+ pounds of food for the Food Bank!

Elsewhere around the halls, there are lots of great events happening, as the RAs are doing their part to keep your students challenged, entertained, and inspired! We started off the term with a campus tour Sunday afternoon before classes started, followed by the All Halls meeting and Spaghetti Dinner served up by the President and many other campus administrators. During the first weeks of class, the Residence Life staff has hosted community meetings and social programs to give your students a chance to meet new people and learn more about their communities. There are many more programs and activities planned for fall term, we hope you will encourage your student to join in and get involved. A great resource is the on line campus calendar that will continue to have upcoming events listed, including Residence Halls programming, just click here and you will find all the calendars to check out. All in all, we are starting off on a great year here in the Residence Halls, and we hope your students are, too!

Career Services TOP TEN List for Parents

1. Encourage involvement on-campus. Whether your son or daughter chooses to play sports, join a club, or participate in intramurals, this level of activity can show future employers leadership potential, time management skills and the willingness to go the extra mile—traits all employers covet.
2. Push volunteering. Volunteering, particularly in something that relates to a chosen career path, again demonstrates to future employers a student's abilities and skills in the "real" world.
3. Support your student's choice to study/travel abroad. The experience gained from being overseas is critical in today's global economy.
4. Make sure your student knows the paramount importance of internships. Nationwide, 40% of all interns eventually end up working for the organization in which they interned. Faculty as well as the Career Services staff will assist students in making an internship a reality.
5. Ensure your son/daughter knows general work experience is paramount to overall career success. Hundreds of jobs that build skills are available on campus.
6. Give career-friendly presents to your son/daughter, especially in their last year. Things like a nice pen, a new tie, dress shoes, a suit or a leather notebook can really help a student's confidence during the process.
7. If graduate school is in the near future, tell your student that grades count. To get into a good graduate program a minimum GPA of 3.0 is needed—and freshmen grades count too.
8. Help your student acquire technological skills. Computer competencies are a must no matter what career path is followed.
9. Serve as a network contact for your son/daughter. Offer encouragement to your student to approach your colleagues, friends, neighbors and coworkers and ask for information and request experience related to his or her interests and career path.
10. Send your students to us. Encourage them come in to make an appointment, research various careers, complete a career assessment, or get assistance in choosing a major. Learning where we are and how we can assist will be very helpful to their career success. A national survey of students indicates that College Career Centers truly do help!

Is your student BOOOOOSTED against diseases?

OIT Student Health (541.885-1800) offers the following vaccines that are recommended for college students:

- Flu vaccines are available at no charge (if your student has the Student Health insurance plan). They can drop in for one of these! Close living quarters puts them at increased risk.
- There is a strong recommendation for protection against meningitis.
- The Gardasil vaccine protects against cervical and oral cancer. Both men and women (by age 26) are encouraged to receive this vaccine. www.gardasil.com
- Everyone should have an updated tetanus booster and now pertussis (whooping cough) should be a part of that booster...and should be given even if it hasn't been 10 years!
- Of course we also have Hepatitis A, Hepatitis B and the Hepatitis A/B shots as well. TB skin tests are also available. Student Health Insurance covers most of these vaccines...and sometimes the manufacturers have a program which assists in the cost.

Women's Basketball Season Preview

Third year head women's basketball coach, Scott Meredith, will look to improve on an 11-19 overall mark and get the women's 2011-12 squad back into the Cascade Conference postseason tournament at year's end.

Oregon Tech returns seven players from last season, including post players Aundrea Albright and Kassi Conditt who combined for 19.2 points and 11.5 rebounds per contest last season. Morgan Hofman, Colleen Hunt and Karissa Dixon combined for nearly 30 points and will bring leadership at the guard position.

Jazzy McDaniel returns after taking a year off, and ranked no. 30 in the country in blocked shots (1.67/game), while ending the 2010 year averaging 5.5 points and 5.2 rebounds. Other notable returnees include sophomore Kiana Caban and senior Kaitlin Nielsen.

Meredith also added transfer and former Oregon 4A Player of the Year, Maria Ramirez, along with All-Idaho 4A State point guard Carrie Thibault, and hopes the mix of returnees and new talent will put the Owls in the hunt for a CCC title in 2012.

Men's Basketball Season Preview

Head Coach Dan Miles will enter his 41st campaign at Oregon Tech when the Hustlin' Owls begin the 2011-12 basketball season. Miles, who guided the Hustlin' Owls to the 2011 Cascade Collegiate Conference regular season title and a berth in the NAIA Championships, was voted the 2011 CCC Coach of the Year. It is the sixth CCC coaching honor for Miles, who also earned the award following the 1997, 2001, 2005, 2007 and 2010 campaigns.

After compiling an impressive 30-5 record in 2011, Miles raised his overall record to 937-377 in his 40 years at Tech, making him the second winningest coach in men's college basketball history. In the past 15 seasons, Miles has led his squads to an overall 395-104 (.786) record with thirteen trips to the NAIA Division II National Tournament. Oregon Tech now has the most tournament wins (28-11, .729) of any team in NAIA Division II history. In Miles' tenure at Oregon Tech, he has guided 16 men's basketball teams to the national tournament.

Heading into the 2011-12 season the Owls are coming off three-straight regular-season and Cascade Conference Tournament championships – the first team in Cascade Collegiate Conference history to secure both titles in three consecutive seasons. During those title runs the Owls appeared in the 2009, 2010 and 2011 NAIA National Tournament "Sweet 16".

The Owls have been most impressive at home, compiling a perfect 19-0 record at Danny Miles Court last season, which now puts the Owls at a school-record 57-straight home victories. This is now the Owls' fourth undefeated home record in school history.

Tech lost three players off last year's Cascade Conference Championship team that included CCC Player of the Year and First Team NAIA All-American Joseph Foster, along with CCC honorable mention selection Brent Johnson and defensive stopper Matt Smith. Tech will also redshirt three players from last year's roster.

Tech will return three starters to the hardwood this season and hopes for another title run will lie with returnees Kyle Gomez (CCC first-team all-conference), CCC Male Athlete of the Year, Bryant Sentman, while David Clarke and floor leader, Scotty Riddle, will bring great experience to the mix. The Owls should once again be one of the league favorites to win the conference title, while another return trip to Branson, MO for a run at the 2011-12 championship will not be out of the question.
